

14.7.2010 in Paris:
 Sun rise 6.00 Twilight 5.19
 Sun set 21.51 Twilight 22.31

WALK IN PARIS ON WEDNESDAY THE 14th OF JULY 2010

Promenade par les centre-points des 20 arrondissements de Paris le mercredi 14 juillet 2010

For the 10th time! Pour la dixième fois!

The aim is to see and experience the whole Paris by walking around it during one day, from dawn to sunset.
Le but est de voir et vivre Paris par la marche pendant une journée, de l'aube jusqu'au coucher du soleil.

The walk is a spiral through all the midpoints of the 20 arrondissements of Paris. The length of the journey is about 44 kilometres. The first time I walked the route taking pictures at all the midpoints I had defined, was the 2nd of September 1996; that time I had an atejée at Cité Internationale des Arts. Since 2001 I've stayed again in Paris every July, and every 14th of July I walk the route again, but now the happenings are open to all who wish to join the walk. Usually there has been about 20 people of different nationalities: architects, artists, and others, who have been interested in experiencing Paris in a different way.

The walk starts at 6.00 in the morning at 69, Rue des Prairies in the midpoint of the 20th arrondissement near place Gambetta. The best choice is to come by taxi in the morning. The walk ends 21.51 at Place du Palais Royal in the midpoint of the 1st arrondissement. The journey takes 16 hours all together. The walking speed should be about 4 km / hour; four hours are dedicated for suppers and rest. If you're late in the morning or want to join us later, just call my mobile phone or send an sms: gsm +358 41 514 5142.

The equipment needed: a positive mind ready to observe Paris, and good shoes – the asphalt is hard!
L'équipement nécessaire: un esprit positif prêt à observer Paris, et bonnes chaussures – l'asphalte est dur!

You're welcome to join the walk!
Bienvenue!

MAURI KORKKA